About the CU Denver Department of Communication

The Department of Communication at CU Denver is a dynamic community of learners and scholars who are committed to “cultivating the knowledge and ability to use communication to create a more equitable and humane world.” Through our BA, MA, online, and certificate programs, we serve approximately 600 majors and minors, 30 graduate students, and online students from around the world.

We are the third largest major in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and among the first Communication programs to establish a cooperative learning agreement with China’s Ministry of Education to offer a CU Denver BA program in Communication in China at our International College Beijing.

Our alumni form a vibrant group of leaders across many industries, including communication, higher education, justice, healthcare, government, nonprofits, and beyond. Our faculty and staff are united by a passion for teaching and for fostering meaningful learning opportunities.

We place a premium on experiential learning and high-impact teaching practices, stressing service learning, civic engagement, internships, travel study and writing-intensive practices.

Our research faculty are well-known leaders in their respective areas of study. Together, they have received more than 15 major awards for research, teaching, and service in the past several years.

We invite you to stop by our offices on the third floor of the Student Commons Building at 1201 Larimer Street or find us online at clas.ucdenver.edu/communication
