FREEDOM MUST STILL RING

HEED THE CALL

Our nation has always been fortunate. Through the decades, our fellow citizens have defended our communities as members of the armed services. On land, at sea and in air, many have given much to maintain the American ideal.

But every year in Colorado, thousands of veterans, from World War II to the Global War on Terror, are buried without meaningful military honors. The reasons are simple: lack of personnel, lack of funds—the story would be mundane if it weren’t so tragic. These men and women who selflessly offered their lives to protect our Liberty and our values are laid to rest without even the honors that were promised to them. And while all parties do their best, there is still more that can be done.

The Honor Bell Foundation seeks to remedy that, by creating a community of veterans to foster public appreciation of military service and honor their fellow veterans with a proper, final tribute. We have commissioned a custom Honor Bell, forged from bronze, including medals and insignia from veterans, to be rung by corps of former service members from all conflicts and military branches. Through our Bell Honors Program, which will sound at veterans’ funeral services, to our Veterans Outreach and Bell Guard programs, we intend to make sure that those who offered their lives as the price of Freedom will have their honors tolled throughout the land.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

The HONOR BELL WHO ARE WE? Curriculum is designed for students in grades from Preschool and Kindergarten all the way up through twelfth grade. The curriculum includes lessons, suggested readings, and project-based learning assignments specifically tailored to each grade level and aligned with Colorado Academic Standards in both social studies and literacy. The curriculum motivates students to examine American, Military, and Veterans’ history through topics that are of personal interest to them.

Following completion of grade-level specific lessons, students then complete the CONNECTION LESSON. This sub-lesson asks students to analyze the leader, issue, law, conflict, or structure of government that they researched and question how we can use American history to understand and provide DIGNITY, HONOR, and RESPECT to our nation and the Veterans who have fought throughout history to defend it.

The final component of the EDUCATION PROGRAM is the ASSEMBLY and CAPSTONE PROJECT. The HONOR BELL FOUNDATION will wrap up the education experience program with a visit to your school, complete with the beautiful 1000-pound bronze bell, Honor Guard, and Honor Bell experts. Students will be able to ask questions, engage with Veterans, and touch the bell with gloved hands. Teachers are also encouraged to team up with the Honor Bell Foundation to engage local veterans.

The HONOR BELL WHO ARE WE? Curriculum is designed to be flexible and adaptable for all teachers’ schedules. Lessons can be adjusted to be one-day exercises that introduce students to the grade-level specific topics, much longer projects that require in-depth research, and anything in between. No matter which you choose, the ultimately goal of the HONOR BELL FOUNDATION is to educate students on American history in a meaningful way, afford Veterans the DIGNITY, HONOR, and RESPECT they deserve, and forge a sense of unity across people of all ages.
WHO ARE WE?
Members of a group

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE PART OF A GROUP?
Students will research what civic participation is. Why is it important to ask questions, share information, and discuss ideas in groups?

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to words and phrases within the following documents:

- Preamble of the Constitution
  “We the People of the United States”
  “A more perfect Union”
  “Ourselves and our posterity”
- Declaration of Independence
  “Mankind”
  “Consent of the governed”
  “These colonies”
  “These states”
  “Brethren”

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- What groups do you belong to?
- Do you belong to groups that others do not belong to?
- What is civic participation?
- Why is it important to listen to the ideas of others in your group?
- Why is it important to listen to the ideas of other groups?
- Why is civic participation in the United States special or unique?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Discuss these words, phrases, and questions as a group. Then encourage students to write, draw, or graphically depict what they think these words mean, and why it is important to be a part of a group.

EXTENSION: Split students into groups (for older or advanced students consider placing them in groups by issue), allow them to discuss what makes them alike and different amongst each other, what makes them alike and different from other groups, and how they would problem solve with each other and other groups.

FIRST GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Leaders

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A LEADER?
Students will identify one notable person from American history. They will then research how and why this person was an effective leader. Why do we still study them? What impact have they had on the United States (i.e. notable places, holidays, patriotic symbols)?

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to documents written by founders and leaders, for example:

- Declaration of Independence
  - Thomas Jefferson
- “Farewell Address”
  - George Washington
- Common Sense
  - Thomas Paine
- “Thirteen Virtues”
  - Benjamin Franklin
- “Gettysburg Address”
  - Abraham Lincoln
- “Women’s Right to the Suffrage”
  - Susan B. Anthony
- “Day of Infamy Address”
  - Franklin D. Roosevelt
- “I Have A Dream”
  - Martin Luther King, Jr.

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- Compare this person to a modern leader who you think exemplifies the same qualities.
- Who do you think individuals will study in 100 years? Why?
- What qualities does this individual share with historical leaders?
- What can you do to be a good leader in your classroom, community, etc.?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
After performing research on their selected leaders, students select three leadership qualities of that individual, and present them to their classmates via written report, graphic display, acting or some other chosen form of presentation. They will then present to their class how a modern day leader also exemplifies these qualities, citing examples.

First Grade

Social Studies

| History | 1. Demonstrate curiosity about patterns and chronological order of events of the recent past
2. Family and cultural traditions in the United States in the past | *Students understand the general, temporal progression of American history from colonization to present day.
*Students describe and understand the continuities and differences between leadership qualities throughout American history |
| Geography | 1. Geographic tools such as maps and globes to represent places
2. People in different groups and communities interact with each other and the environment. | *Students identify and sort themselves into different and various groups according to what they perceive a leader to be.
*Students recognize that leadership can encompass a number of qualities, represent a number of different groups, and must mediate interests of other groups and their leaders. |
| Economics | 1. People work at different types of jobs and in different types of organizations in order to produce goods and services and receive income
2. Identify short term financial goals (PFL) | *Students understand that leaders emerge in many different professions and fight for a range of causes
*Students understand that leaders in business share some of the same qualities as political and social leaders
*Students understand that leaders can represent a range of foals, whether they be monetary, political, social, personal, etc. |
| Civics | 1. Effective groups have responsible leaders and team members
2. Notable people, places, holidays, and patriotic symbols | *Students understand that effective leaders emerge to lead various groups while recognizing important leaders and their contributions.
*Students understand that individuals are part of different groups for different reasons, why cooperation is important, and why rules are important in managing groups
*Students recognize important historical leaders and their contributions. |

Reading, Writing & Communication

| Oral Expression and Listening | 1. Multiple strategies to develop and expand oral vocabulary
2. Verbal and nonverbal language is used to express and receive information
3. Identifying and manipulating phonemes in spoken words allow people to understand the meaning of speech | *Students are presented with words from primary source documents via speaking and writing, and made to understand their conceptual meaning.
*Discussion amongst students about group membership requires both active listening and thought-out answers.
*Students use new words to expand their phonetic understanding |
| Writing and Composition | 1. Exploring the writing process develops ideas for writing texts that carry meaning.
2. Appropriate spelling, conventions, and grammar are applied when writing | *Students express their understanding of documents written by famous people, and use them to apply meaning in their own writing.
*Students practice implementing correct grammar and punctuation throughout both observation of texts and practice in their own work |
| Research and Reasoning | 1. A variety of resources leads to locating information and answering questions of interest.
2. Purpose, information, and questions about an issue are essential steps in early research. | *Students begin performing primary source research by looking at famous documents authored by Trailblazers, as well as any additional resources they might find.
*Students make connections from this research between historical leaders and modern leaders. |
SECOND GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Advocates for ideas

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO TAKE A STAND FOR NEW IDEAS?
Students will be presented with a historical source (The Declaration of Independence). They will then formulate ideas about how these people of the past influenced their neighborhoods, communities, the nation, and/or the world. Students will then formulate an example of when someone in their community advocated for their ideas.

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to documents written by founders and leaders. For example:

- Declaration of Independence
- Articles of Confederation
- Constitution
- Federalist, #51
- 13th Amendment
- 19th Amendment
- Bill of Rights

*Students should focus on one “new” idea in each source.

FURTHER QUESTIONING

- What new idea were the authors taking a stand for in the chosen document?
- How have these people and ideas of the past influenced us today? Have they helped us advocate for our ideas?
- Why is it important to have someone represent your ideas?
- How can we use these tools to resolve our differences?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students outline the ideas advocated for in their chosen document, why they believe it was important and advocated for, and who opposed this idea and why. Students also identify one modern idea they would advocate for, as well as one strategy to solve a problem. Students present this information to their classmates via written report, graphic display, actigin, or some other chosen form of presentation.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to assign students opposing topics and stage a debate answering the above outlined questions.
COLORADO ACADEMIC STANDARDS ALIGNMENT

Second Grade

Social Studies

| History | 1. Students will identify people in the past that influenced the history of neighborhoods and communities.
2. Identify historical sources and utilize the tools of a historian | *Students analyze how new ideas changed the neighborhoods and communities of the past and today.
*Students study primary documents and decide what new idea the document advocates for |
|---|---|---|
| Geography | 1. Use the geographic terms and tools to describe space and place
2. Place in communities manage, modify, and depend on their environment | *Students identify the factions in favor and opposed to the idea set forth in a particular document, and locate the geographically and temporally.
*Students examine how a change in political environment changes communities. |
| Civics | 1. Students will identify and compare multiple ways that people understand and resolve conflicts and differences.
2. Responsible community members advocate for their ideas | *Students understand that individuals are part of different groups for different reasons, why cooperation is important, and why rules are important in managing groups.
*Students understand that effective leaders emerge to lead various groups and advocate for certain ideas.
*Students recognize different problems solving solutions between different factions |

Reading, Writing & Communication

| Oral Expression and Listening | 1. Discussions contribute and expand on the ideas of self and others
2. New information can be learned and better dialogue created by listening actively. | *Discussion amongst students about advocating for new ideas requires both active listening and thought-out answers. |
|---|---|---|
| Reading for All Purposes | 1. Decoding words with accuracy depends on knowledge of complex spelling patterns and morphology
2. Fluent reading depends on specific skills and approaches to understanding strategies when reading literary and informational texts. | *Students begin to explore primary source documents from any different historical periods.
*Students begin to utilize their vocabulary and context to help make sense of complex and unfamiliar words. |
| Writing and Composition | 1. Exploring the writing process helps to plan and draft a variety of literary genres and informational texts.
2. Appropriate spelling, capitalization, grammar, and punctuation are used and applied when writing | *Students express their understanding of historical documents.
*Students articulate the main point of historical documents in their own informational texts
*Students practice implementing correct grammar and punctuation through both observation of texts and practice in their own work. |
| Research and Reasoning | 1. Questions are essential to analyze and evaluate the quality of thinking.
2. Reference materials help us locate information and answer questions | *Students begin performing primary source research by looking at documents regarding the advocacy of new ideas.
*Students pose questions about why these ideas were revolutionary, why some were in favor of them, and why some opposed. |
THIRD GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Members of a democracy

WHAT DOES IS A DEMOCRACY?
Students will research what a democracy is. They will choose one component of a democratic society (voting). Why is this component important to us as Americans? What would happen if this component were not part of American society?

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to documents that articulate specific rights. Have them choose one to focus on.

- Bill of Rights
- 11th-27th Amendments
- Civil Rights Act
- Voting Rights Act
- Fair Housing Acts and Amendments

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- Why were some groups denied democratic rights?
- What does it mean to debate these components?
- Why is it important to respect people with different views?
- How do these components work in a local government?
- Why do our democratic rights matter in local government?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students outline the democratic right they researched. They then assess whether this right was once denied to any particular group, and/or why there was opposition to it, and whether or not they think there is still a debate over or a denial of this democratic right. They should conclude with an example of how this democratic right is used in local government. Students present this information to their classmates via a written report, graphic display, acting, or some other chosen form of presentation.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to have students with opposing topics stage a debate answering the above outlined questions.
COLORADO ACADEMIC STANDARDS ALIGNMENT

Third Grade

Social Studies

| History | 1. Use a variety of sources to distinguish historical fact from fiction
2. People in the past influenced the development and interaction of different communities and regions. | *Students study primary documents and discern historical facts from popular fiction
*Students analyze how and why individuals in the past advocated for and passed legislation, and discuss how it affects us now |
| --- | --- | --- |
| Geography | 1. Use various types of geographic tools to develop spatial-thinking
2. The concept of regions is developed through an understanding of similarities and differences in places | *Students identify how democratic rights have been applied to different groups of people and locate these geographically and temporally
*Students use maps to identify demographics geographically |
| Economics | 1. Describe producers and consumers and how goods and services are exchanged
2. Describe how to meet short-term financial goals (PFL) | *Students discover the economic implications of particular facets of democracy |
| Civics | 1. Respecting the views and rights of others as components of democratic society
2. The origin, structure, and function of local government | *Students understand that others are also entitled to the views and rights of a democratic society
*Students discuss why, historically, some groups were denied their democratic rights
*Students identify how their local government works, and how it contributes to state and federal government. |

Reading, Writing & Communication

| Oral Expression and Listening | 1. Oral communication is used both informally and formally.
2. Successful group activities need the cooperation of everyone. | *Discussion amongst students about democratic rights requires both active listening and thought-out answers. |
| --- | --- | --- |
| Reading for All Purposes | 1. Strategies are needed to make sense of various types of literary genres.
2. Comprehension strategies are necessary when reading informational or persuasive text
3. Increasing word understanding word use, and word relationships increases vocabulary | *Students begin to explore primary and secondary source documents from many different historical periods.
*Students begin to utilize their vocabulary and context to help make sense of complex and unfamiliar words and information |
| Writing and Composition | 1. A writing process is used to plan, draft, and write a variety of literary genres and informational texts
2. Correct grammar, capitalization, punctuation, and spelling, are used when writing. | *Students practice implementing correct grammar and punctuation through both observation of texts and practice in their own work.
*Students articulate the main point of historical documents in their own information text
*Students express their understanding of historical documents. |
| Research and Reasoning | 1. Research a topic and sharing findings are often done with others
2. Inferences and points of view exist | *Students begin to perform research by looking at documents and discussing them with classmates.
*Students understand via research that opposing points of views exist and make inferences about why that is
FOURTH GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Coloradans

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE A COLORADAN?
Students will choose a key individual or group from Colorado’s history. They will then describe what key event or idea this person was responsible for spearheading in Colorado. What was the cause and effect of their actions? What are the implications for Colorado today?

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to primary documents regarding Colorado’s history:
- Colorado State Constitution
- Denver Public Library: Western History Resources
  - Includes topics on:
    - Elitch Gardens
    - National Western Stock Show
    - Ralph Carr
    - Corky Gonzalez
    - Benjamin Stapleton
    - Justina Ford
- Hispanic History Resources at History Colorado
- Colorado Historic Newspaper Collection

Teachers may also find these secondary sources useful for reference:
- Colorado Story by Debra Faulkner and Thomas Noel
- My Colorado by Willian Virden and Mary Borg
- Discover Colorado: It’s People, Places, and Times by Matthew T. Downey and Ty Bliss
- Colorado by Cynthia Walker

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- How is this Colorado person or event related to larger events in the United States?
- What other perspectives were there about this event or idea?
- How is this person, idea, and/or event affecting us today?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students outline the person, idea, event that they chose. They should explicitly address any conflict surrounding this event, how this helped shape the Colorado government, how it relates to larger United States history. How does this impact us today? Students present his information to their classmates via written report, graphic display, acting, or some other chosen form of presentation.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to sort students with similar topics into groups and allow them to create a short skit that answers the above topics, while also encouraging creative collaboration.

4th Grade

Social Studies

| History | 1. Organize a sequence of events to understand the concepts of chronology and cause and effects in the history of Colorado.
2. The historical eras, individuals, groups, ideas, and themes in Colorado history and their relationships to key events in the United States | Students study primary documents and understand the temporal progression of Colorado history.
Students analyze how Colorado history was aligned with or impacted United States History. |
|---|---|---|
| Geography | 1. Use several geographic tools to answer questions about the geography of Colorado.
2. Connections within and across human and physical systems are developed | Students use maps to outline developments in Colorado history.
Students discern connections (both similarities and differences) across Coloradans and Americans. |
| Economics | 1. People respond to positive and negative incentives.
2. The relationship between choice and opportunity cost (PFL) | Students discover how incentives motivated decisions in Colorado history.
Students assess the consequences of historical decisions. |
| Civics | 1. Analyze and debate multiple perspectives on an issue.
2. The origins, structure, and functions of the Colorado government | Students discuss why, historically, some groups in Colorado history had opposing views, and what the implications of these disagreements were.
Students identify how the Colorado government works and how it impacts the federal government. |

Reading, Writing & Communication

| Oral Expression and Listening | 1. A clear communication plan is necessary to effectively deliver and receive information. | Discuss amongst students about Colorado history requires both active listening and thought-out answers.
Students must plan the oral components of a presentation. |
|---|---|---|
| Reading for All Purposes | 1. Comprehension and fluency matter when reading literary and informational texts in a fluent way.
2. Knowledge of complex orthography (spelling words), morphology (word meanings), and word relationships to decode (read) multisyllabic words contributes to better reading skills | Students demonstrate comprehension when researching documents from women activists.
Students tackle difficult texts via reading tools and context clues to increase reading skills. |
| Writing and Composition | 1. The recursive writing process is used to create a variety of literary genres for an intended audience.
2. Informational and persuasive texts use the recursive writing process.
3. Correct sentence formation, grammar, punctuation, capitalization, and spelling are applied to make the meaning clear to the reader. | Students express their understanding of historical documents.
Students articulate the main idea of historical documents in their own informational texts.
Students practice implementing correct grammar and punctuation through both observation of texts and practices in their own work. |
| Research and Reasoning | 1. Comprehending new information for research is a process undertaken with discipline both alone and within groups.
2. Identifying implications, concepts, and ideas enriches reasoning skills. | Students perform research by looking at documents regarding demographic rights and discuss them with classmates.
Students understand via research that opposing points of views exist, and make inferences about why this is. |
FIFTH GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Americans

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE AN AMERICAN?
Students will select a structure or function of the United States government (i.e. freedom of speech). They will then research the origins of this aspect of the United States governmental system. How have ideas about citizenship influenced this structure?

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to primary documents regarding the structure of the United States government.
- Declaration of Independence
- Articles of Confederation
- Federalist Papers #47-51
- Constitution
- Bill of Rights

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- What are the historical justifications for this structure or function?
- How have discussions regarding citizenship impacted this structure?
- How does this structure or function impact us today? Should it stay the same? Be revised? Are we debating it?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students outline the structure of government they researched. They then assess its relationship to citizenship, their opinion on it and why they feel that way, and how it impacts us today. Students present this information to their classmates via written report, graphic display, acting, or some other chosen form of expression.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to assign groups of students to one of each of the ten amendments in the Bill of Rights. The groups would answer the above questions collaboratively.

*Students study primary documents and understand the temporal progression of American history. *Students analyze how structures of the U.S. government were developed, debated, and changed/remained the same from 1491 through the founding of the U.S. government. *Students use maps to outline developments in American history. *Students discern connections between human movement and the structure of government (i.e. colonization and American independence). *Students discuss why discussions about citizenship helped shape the structure of the American government. *Students identify how the American government was created, works, and how it has changed/remained the same over time. *Students must formulate an opinion about the structure of government and describe it to an audience. *Students must plan an oral component of their presentation. *Students must engage in active listening to the presentations of others. *Students demonstrate comprehension when researching primary source documents. *Students make connections across their sources. *Students tackle difficult texts via reading tools and context clues to increase reading skills. *Students express their understanding of historical documents. *Students articulate the main point of historical documents in their own information. Students practice implementing correct grammar and punctuation through both observation of texts and practice in their own work. *Students perform primary source research by looking at documents regarding the structure of the U.S. government and discuss them with classmates. *Students understand via research that opposing points of view exist, and make inferences as to why this is. *Students display their acquired knowledge in a meaningful way.
SIXTH & SEVENTH GRADE

WHAT ARE WE?
Interconnected

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO LIVE IN A GLOBALIZED WORLD?
Students will first select a country (Western Hemisphere for 6th grade; Eastern Hemisphere for 7th grade) with which the United States trades (or traded with during some point in history). They will then select a specific good traded between that country and the U.S. and use primary documents, maps, and data to discover the other countries and dynamics involved in this trade partnership.

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
Introduce students to primary documents that outline trade agreements throughout history:
- British Navigation Act of 1651
- Siamese-American Treaty of 1833
- Cobden-Chevalier Treaty
- McKinley Tariff Act of 1980
- Bretton Woods Agreement
- General Agreement of Trade and Tariffs (GATT)
- North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA)

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- What, if any, international organizations govern/regulated this relationship?
- Are the economic and governmental systems of these countries the same or different?
- What makes these relationships successful?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students present the trade route of their good (or service) via some form of graphic organization. They also outline the types of governments and economies the United States works with along with route, as well as any international agreements governing these relationships.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to have students work in groups. Each student would represent either country or international agreement along with a trade route of a particular good or service. This extension would require each component to be researched in greater depth.

Research and Reasoning

1. Answering a research question logically begins with obtaining and analyzing information from a variety of sources.
2. Logical information requires documented sources.
3. Reasoned material is evaluated for its quality using both its logic and its use of a medium.

Students perform research by looking at documents written by athletes and artists and discussing them with classmates.

Students research, analyze, and document information across sources to construct unbiased questions and hypotheses.

8th Grade

Social Studies

History

1. Investigate and evaluate primary and secondary sources from multiple diverse perspectives about United States history from the American Revolution through Reconstruction to formulate and defend claims with textual evidence and logical reasoning.
2. Develop a contextual understanding of the historical eras, individuals, groups, ideas, and themes from the origins of the American Revolution through Reconstruction.

Students assess an element within the Constitution and its evolution from Revolution to Reconstruction.

Students research and draw conclusions across a number of primary sources.

Geography

1. Use geographic tools to analyze patterns in human and physical systems.
2. Recognize the impact of the competition for control of land and resources in early American history.

Students use maps to identify demographics geographically.

Economics/Financial Literacy

1. Examine the role of consumer decisions and taxes within the market economies of early American history.

Students explore how economic tensions produced conflict from Revolution to Reconstruction.

Civics

1. Investigate and evaluate the purpose and place of rule of law in a constitutional system.
2. Construct an understanding of the changing definition of citizenship and the expansion of rights of citizens in the United States.

Students understand how elements within the Constitution changed/remained the same from Revolution to Reconstruction.

Students understand the place of law in a constitutional system, and how the period between the Reconstruction and Revolution helped define this.

EIGHTH GRADE

WHO ARE WE?
Participants

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF REVISING THE LAW?
Students will select an element of the Constitution that either changed or stayed the same in the period between the American Revolution and Reconstruction (states rights versus federal rights). They will have to identify how and why this element became ingrained in the Constitution and how it was debated, fought over, and revised in the period from Revolution to Reconstruction.

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING
- Declaration of Independence
- Common Sense by Thomas Paine
- The Federalist Papers
- The Antifederalist Papers
- Articles of Confederation
- Constitution
- The Declaration of Immediate Causes Which Induce and Justify the Secession of South Carolina from the Federal Union
- First Inaugural Address by Abraham Lincoln

FURTHER QUESTIONING
- Does the Constitution leave this element up for interpretation? If so, what do you believe this interpretation is?
- Are we still debating this element today? If so, why do you think this is?
- Did we fight a conflict over this element? Why was it so contentious?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students present their chosen element of the Constitution and explain how and why it changed/stayed the same? They should then explain if we are still debating and attempting to revise this issue today? Students should offer their personal opinions regarding this issue, as well as their personal solutions supported by facts and evidence. Students present this information to their classmates via written report, graphic display, acting or some other chosen form of presentation.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to have students with opposing topics stage a debate answering the above outlined questions. Teachers may also consider assigning students to groups to argue a particular side of a single, multi-perspectival issue.
HIGH SCHOOL

WHO ARE WE?
Critical Thinkers

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE/ROLE OF GOVERNMENT?
Students will select a law outlined in the Constitution, either in its Articles or Amendments. They will then find other founding documents (i.e. the Federalist Papers) that speak to the same issue. Using these primary documents, analysis, and critical thinking, students will then decide and defend what they believe the role of government is regarding their particular issue. Students will also compare/contrast how this issue is incorporated into law in another country.

SUGGESTIONS FOR READING:
● Declaration of Independence
● Constitution
● Bill of Rights
● Federalist Papers
● Anti Federalist Papers

FURTHER QUESTIONING
● What are the social implications of this issue in the United States? In foreign country? In the globalized world?
● What are the economic implications of this issue in the United States? In foreign country? In the globalized world?
● What are the merits of the opposition’s argument?

PROJECT-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY
Students present their chosen law, and discuss its evolution throughout history, and how it has been applied. Students will then articulate what they believe to be the role of the government in regards to this issue, supporting their stance with evidence. They will then discuss the current social and economic implications of this law compared to that of one another country. Students present this information to their classmates via written report, graphic display, acting, or some other chosen form of presentation.

EXTENSION: Teachers may choose to have students with opposing topics stage a debate answering the above outlined questions. Teachers may also consider assigning students to groups to argue a particular side of a single, multi-perspectival issue.

*Students distinguish facts about the role of government from opinions, but use source-materials and evidence to support their own opinions.

*Students reflect, refine, and articulate their knowledge and beliefs.
CONNECTION LESSON

WHY STUDY WHO WE ARE?
To understand that we should afford DIGNITY, HONOR, and RESPECT to each other, our country, and our Veterans.

CRITICAL THINKING QUESTIONS
- What do the words “dignity,” “honor,” and respect, mean?
- What is unique about the United States? Why should we dignify, honor, and respect our country?
- What is unique about our military and our Veterans, and why should we afford them dignity, honor, and respect?
- Our Veterans face many issues and challenges following active service. How can we assist them in these challenges? Are we currently doing enough?
- Does everyone deserve dignity, honor, and respect?
- What can we gain by affording those we disagree with dignity, honor, and respect?
ASSEMBLY

HOW CAN WE SHARE WHO WE ARE?
The assembly is the culmination of the education program experience, and the best way for teachers and students of all grade levels to share their new understanding about American history, heritage, and identity. After completion of the lessons, the HONOR BELL FOUNDATION will visit your school, bringing along experts, Veterans, and the Honor Bell. They will utilize their mission– DIGNITY, HONOR, and RESPECT– to bridge the academic and experimental elements of the curriculum.

NEXT STEPS
1. Decide where the curriculum will work for you in terms of lesson planning and schedules. Also, consider how in-depth you will be going in terms of the lessons.
2. Contact the HONOR BELL FOUNDATION to schedule your assembly sometime after your students complete the lesson portion of the program.
3. Consider engaging local Veterans, not only for the Assembly, but perhaps throughout the process.
4. After the assembly, debrief with your students. After they complete the experience, they may want to share what they have gained from the program.
5. Contact the HONOR BELL FOUNDATION about potential field trip opportunities, or about partner organizations where students may be able to continue working on their projects.

FINALLY
Keep us in mind for future classes if you know other educators that might be interested, or if you know any Veterans that might be interested in the Bell Honor Guard or Veteran Outreach programs.
HIGH SCHOOL EXTENSION: CAPSTONE PROJECT

In 2020, the Colorado Department of Education mandated that all graduating seniors earn the newly required Graduation Capstone. Fulfilling this component requires students in 9th through 12th grade to perform extensive research on a specific topic, interview specialists in the field, and create a project outside of the confines of a traditional classroom assignment that is presented to a wider audience. To fulfill this requirement, high school students in grades 9th-12th can choose ONE of the following military sites in Colorado to research and present in a paper format:

Burial Sites:
Fort Logan National Cemetery
Pikes Peak National Cemetery

Memorial Sites:
Fort Lyon National Cemetery
Veterans Memorial Cemetery of Western Colorado
Colorado Freedom Memorial
Colorado Civil War Memorial
10th Mountain Division Memorial/Museum
American Service Women’s Memorial
POW/MIA Memorial
Soldiers of the Civil War Memorial
Overseas Flyers Monument-World War I pilots
Tuskegee Airmen Memorial Highway and Statue
Camp Amache
USS Colorado Memorial
Buffalo Bill Memorial and Medal of Honor
Liberty Bell Memorial World War I

Capstone Project:
1. Creation of a Capstone Project that encompasses the following requirements:
   a. Annotated Bibliography
   b. Primary and secondary sources
   c. Process Paper that discusses the project timeline from creation to completion
   d. An interview or multiple interviews of professionals in the field, to also include historians, judges, persons holding a PhD, or an eye witness of an event.
   e. A project panel of judges that assesses the student and their project based on a formal rubric.
   f. A passing grade of a “C” or higher in the literacy capstone course.
